

member orientation

Tip #1

The orientation information you want to give will be better received when it appeals to different learning styles and considers sensory learning

Tip #2

Successful orientation plans:

- welcome/build buy-in & sense of community
- educate & mentor the new members
- are clear about expectations for member involvement

Tip #3

Create a toolkit that:

- Information about Co-ops
- Resources for Members
- Important information about the community
- Maintenance and emergency information

Longer term members hold:

- Valuable information
- The co-op's history and stories
- A sense of ownership
- A need for energy from new members
- Power – through a sense of already having been here

Tip #4
